

Flee the Danger

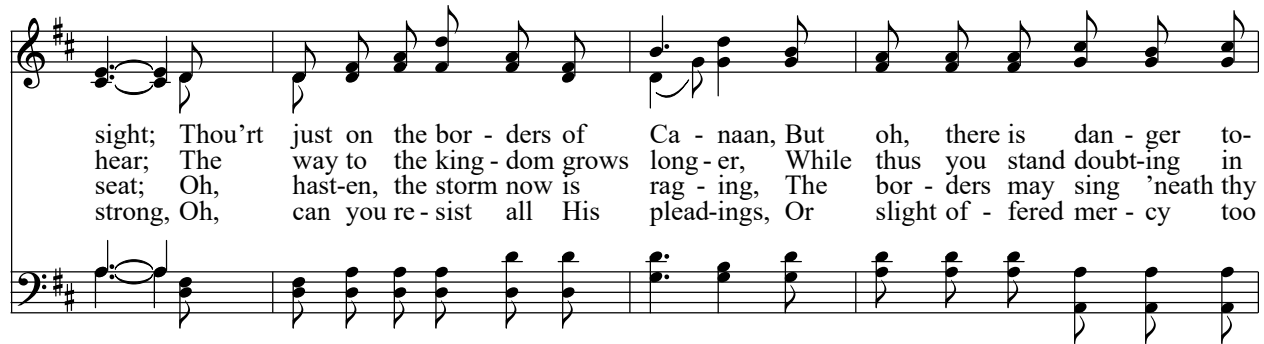

Sarah Kagey Holsinger, 1898

George Blackburn Holsinger

♩ = 90

1. "Not far from the king-dom of Hea - ven," Its glo - ries gleam faint on thy
2. The power of the temp-ter grows strong-er, God's plead-ing you soon may not
3. O bro - ther, no long-er stand wait - ing But come to the blest mer-cy 4. Thy Sav - ior is ear - nest-ly call - ing, In ac - cents so ten - der and sight; Thou'rt just on the bor - ders of Ca - naan, But oh, there is dan - ger to-hear; The way to the king - dom grows long - er, While thus you stand doubt-ing in seat; Oh, hast-en, the storm now is rag - ing, The bor - ders may sing 'neath thy strong, Oh, can you re - sist all His plead-ings, Or slight of - fered mer - cy too

Refrain

- night.
fear. Flee the dan - ger, the dan - ger, Oh, en-ter the ha - ven of feet. Flee the dan-ger, O sin-ner, God's love do not spurn; Oh, en-ter the ha-ven of long?

rest; Flee the dan - ger, to Je - sus re - turn, Oh, come and for-ev-er be rest, sweet rest; Flee the dan-ger, O sin-ner, to Je - sus re - turn, blest.