1. God of na - tions, let sal - va - tion Sound a - loud from sea to sea;
2. Thro' the val - leys, o'er the mount - ains, Let the red cross ban - ner go;
3. Let the In - dian in his wild - ness, Let the freed - man in his gloom,

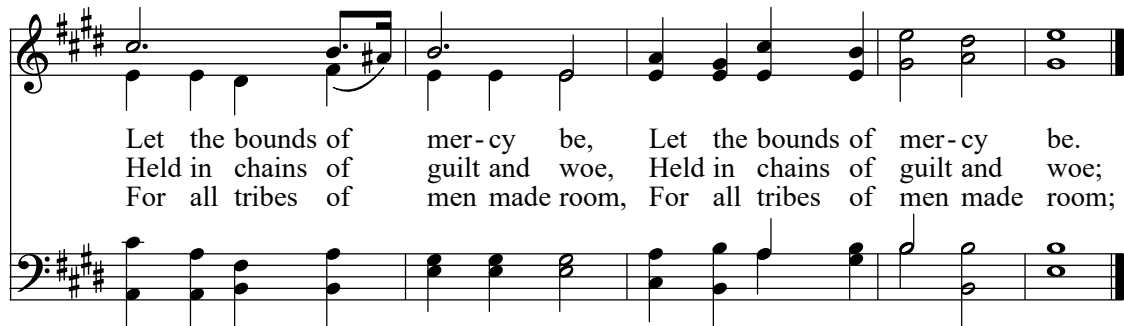

Let the out - posts of the na - tion Swell the glor - ious ju - bi - lee;
Turn the rocks and hills to fount - ains From which tides of grace shall flow;
Taste the mer - cy and the mild - ness Of the Lord who left the tomb;

Wide as prair - ies, wide as prair - ies, Let the bounds of mer - cy be,
Flow to mill - ions, flow to mill - ions, Held in chains of guilt and woe,
And in Heav - en, and in Heav - en, For all tribes of men made room,

Let the bounds of mer - cy be; Wide as prair - ies, wide as prair - ies,
Held in chains of guilt and woe; Flow to mill - ions, flow to mill - ions,
For all tribes of men made room; And in Heav - en, and in Heav - en,

Let the bounds of mer - cy be, Let the bounds of mer - cy be.
Held in chains of guilt and woe, Held in chains of guilt and woe;
For all tribes of men made room, For all tribes of men made room;
